

OUR 2025/26 TRAINING PROVISION

We provide free or discounted places on all our workshops for staff from subscribing departments - see the website for more details.

For graduate teaching assistants (GTAs)

These workshops develop core teaching practice for GTAs. They cover roles and responsibilities, how to incentivise active learning in economics, how to plan and work efficiently, and effective marking and feedback.

- 15 Sept 2025, University of Strathclyde
- 23 & 25 Sept 2025, online
- 26 Sept 2025, University of Exeter
- 26 Sept 2025, University of Manchester
- 1 Oct 2025, University College London
- 6 Oct 2025, University of Leeds
- 8 Oct 2025, University of Warwick

- 21 & 23 Jan 2026, online
- 5 May 2026, online - focus on marking & feedback

For early career lecturers

A two-day training workshop focused on excellence and efficiency. Attendees will be offered personalised feedback and training on designing and delivering engaging economics teaching. Sessions are fully aligned to the PSF, helping those working towards Advance HE fellowship status.

- 16-17 April 2026, University of Strathclyde

Thematic sessions for all economists

These online sessions offer insights from experts and are an opportunity for all economists to upskill.

- Programme director support
- Teaching maths in economics programmes (with INERME)
- Exam season marking and feedback, 5 May 2026
- Additional dates and themes will be announced in September

www.economicsnetwork.ac.uk